Lawyers team up with League of Rock™ to feed the hungry

Toronto: Five lawyer bands are teaming up with participating producer League of Rock™ on May 6, for “Rockin’ the Courthouse,” a concert in aid of the Toronto Lawyers Feed the Hungry program.

The event is a first for the Toronto Lawyers Feed the Hungry program, which is operated by the Law Society Foundation. Established in 1998, the year-round program now provides 2,000 meals a week to Toronto residents in need.

“We are pleased to have the opportunity to put on this show at one of Toronto’s landmark venues – Live@Courthouse – the original York County Courthouse,” says event organizer and lawyer John McMillan. “I have had the pleasure of seeing many of the participating lawyers perform and the audience will not be disappointed. Rock enthusiasts will not want to miss this event,” he says.

Songs will include a selection of solid classics, as well as many new favourites.

Lawyer bands include Hung Jury, Poison Pill, The Loopholes, The Soul Practitioner and Tortious Conduct. The League of Rock™ showcase band is Motion Denied.

Event sponsors are: McMillan Law Professional Corporation; Gardiner Roberts LLP; Howie, Sacks & Henry LLP; and Paliare Roland Rosenberg Rothstein LLP.
